iPhone J.D.
Lawyers using iPhones and iPads

Main   Index to Prior Posts   Monthly Archives   About Me

ABOUT

iPhone J.D. is the oldest and largest website for lawyers using iPhones and iPads. iPhone J.D. is published by Jeff Richardson, an attorney in New Orleans, Louisiana. This site does not provide legal advice, and any opinions expressed on this site are solely those of the author and do not reflect the views of Jeff's law firm, Adams and Reese LLP. iPhone J.D. is not associated with Apple, Inc.

CONTACT ME

jeff@iphonejd.com
Twitter: @jeffrichardson (occasional updates from me on iPhone topics and sometimes other items) and @iphonejd (automatic notice of every new post on iPhone J.D.)

« In the news | Main

September 19, 2016

[Sponsor] Lit Software -- TrialPad, TranscriptPad and DocReviewPad apps for the iPad

Thank you to Lit Software for sponsoring iPhone J.D. this month. My guess is that many of your know about this company because it produces three of the very best iPad apps designed for attorneys: TrialPad, TranscriptPad and DocReviewPad. TrialPad was first released in 2010 — the same year that the iPad itself debuted — and has seen numerous major updates over the years. I reviewed the most recent version just a few months ago, and it is an incredibly powerful app. If you want to present evidence to a jury, judge, or other audience, the app gives you powerful tools for displaying and annotating documents, including the Callout tool that most jurors expect to see nowadays.

In my own litigation practice, I spend a lot of time working with deposition transcripts, such as preparing for a motion for summary judgment. Thus, TranscriptPad is the Lit Software app that I use the most. My last major review of the app was in November of 2014, and that review still gives you a solid overview of what the app can do. But the app has had many updates since then and is now even more powerful. Whether I am drafting a motion, or I am in a subsequent deposition and I want to quickly see all of the relevant testimony on a subject during prior depositions, TranscriptPad does exactly what I need. On several occasions, other attorneys have watched me use TranscriptPad and then remarked that they need to get an iPad. When an app is so useful that it is a reason for attorneys to buy an iPad, you know it is a good app.

DocReviewApp is the newest app from Lit Software, and I reviewed it in October of 2015. This is an app that you can use to review and annotate documents on your iPad, so this app is especially helpful as a part of the request for production of documents process.

Thanks to Lit Software for sponsoring iPhone J.D. this month, and more importantly, a big thank you to Lit Software for creating software that allows us to use our iPads to be better attorneys.

Click here to get TrialPad ($129.99): App Store

Click here to get TranscriptPad ($89.99): App Store

Click here for DocReviewPad ($89.99): App Store

SEARCH

Search

SUBSCRIBE

Get iPhone J.D. delivered to you for free:

Subscribe in a reader

Subscribe to iPhone J.D. by Email

Powerful software that's conveniently mobile.

TRIALPAD
ORGANIZE, ANNOTATE, AND PRESENT EVIDENCE

TRANSCRIPTPAD
SEARCH, ISSUE CODE, AND SUMMARIZE TRANSCRIPTS

DOCREVIEWPAD
REVIEW, ISSUE CODE, AND ASSIGN BATES NUMBERS

Download on the App Store